The Official PUZZLE CLUB Newsletter

ISSUE 205
APRIL 2023

A bit of a 'jump back in time' this month as we include new puzzles from some suppliers we haven't had for quite a while. These include JHG (who manufacture their own puzzles) and University Games (who supply Paul Lamond & Educa puzzles). They sit alongside new Ravensburger puzzles this month, so hopefully there are designs and sizes to suit everyone! Please give the new ones a try and let us know what you think of the quality of the images and puzzles themselves. We're also restarting something we did many years ago where we are going to feature an artist each month. There won't always be new puzzles to buy from the artist (although there is one this month) it's just a way of introducing the artists to you a little more and letting you know more about their life. Some artists will have been producing puzzle images for many years, some will be relatively new. Remember too that all last year puzzles are still reduced on the website while stocks last ...

FEATURED ARTIST

Colin Edward Thompson

Is an English-Australian writer and illustrator of children's books as well as jigsaw puzzles. Born on 18 October 1942 in Ealing as Colin Willment, his mother remarried in London in 1953 and his surname changed to Thompson. Colin attended boarding school in Yorkshire and later a grammar school in West London.

He studied art for two years at college in Ealing and Hammersmith, where he met his first wife. He worked as a silk-screen printer, a graphic designer and a theatre stage manager for a while, before attending the London Film School and working on documentaries for the BBC. After suffering several bouts of depression involving hospital stays in his early twenties, Colin re-married a second time and after living briefly in Mallorca in 1968, moved back to the UK and settled in the Outer Hebrides.

He and his wife set up a business as ceramicists, continuing the profession after moving to Cumbria in 1975. After 20 years, Colin visited Australia and fell in love with the place that he moved there in 1995, married Anne in 1999 and has now gained Australian citizenship.

Colin's career as a writer and illustrator didn't really begin until he was around 45. He first took black-and-white illustrations to a publisher in 1990, assuming a story would be written by someone else to go with his images. He was, however, instructed to write the story himself and re-do his illustrations in colour. He is colour-blind but did not let this hold him back at all. His first picture book was published in 1991 and he has now had over 70 books published. Many of them are books for children and are self-illustrated but also include a few series of novels for pre-teens and young adults. He loves to multi-task and always has several books and illustrations 'on the go' at the same time!

His detailed, whimsical, colourful illustrations are popular as jigsaw puzzles with many of his works featured in jigsaws by Ravensburger, including the new one available to buy this month - Grandad's Locker.

Colin has one daughter from his first marriage and two from his second and now has 5 grandchildren and lives with his wife Anne in Bellingen in New South Wales, Australia.

Jig's Corner

Plenty to do in the warehouse this month as we prepare for the new puzzles from JHG and University Games. I remember us selling JHG a long time ago, so it is lovely to have them back onboard.

I completed my 1500pc puzzle - it took me just over a week working a couple of hours a day. Not great by some of our seasoned jiggers' standards I know, but I was delighted to finish it 😊

Stay safe Jig
